Trillium keeps the spirit of traditional Irish music alive—with a playful twist.

From songs in the Irish language to cutting-edge arrangements and harmonies, Trillium has a one-of-a-kind sound.

A Trillium show warms the heart and puts a smile on your face.

Every show feels like coming home.
There's laughter.
There's rhythm.
There's joy.

“Hiring Trillium Irish Band was one of the best decisions we made for our wedding. They were professional and easy to work with. They played a mix of traditional Irish music that matched the different spirit we wanted for our ceremony and reception. Many of our guests told us that the live music really set the celebratory mood of our reception as Trillium Irish Band brought incredible energy to the day. Having live music at our wedding enhanced our event, as live music is an experience and not just heard. Thank you Trillium Irish Band for bringing this joy to our wedding celebration. - Ana and Nick ”

TRILLIUM | TRADITIONAL IRISH MUSIC WITH TWIST

Trillium brings traditional Irish music to life with driving dance tunes, beautiful airs, songs in Irish, and arrangements that don't always play by the rules. The result is music that's rooted in tradition but feels very much alive—energetic, engaging, and meant to be shared with an audience.

Whether it's a lively reel, a haunting song, or a tune you can't help but move to, Trillium's performances are about more than just playing the music. There's singing, storytelling, a little bit of mischief, and plenty of chances for the audience to join in.

Trillium has performed at Michigan Celtic Festival, Sparta Celtic Festival, Arts Beats & Eats, Wheatland Wheatscots, Live at the Presby Concert Series, The Rhubarbary Concert Series, Battle Creek Mastersingers, the Battle Creek Symphony Sound Bites Series, Charlevoix Live on the Lake, Meijer Gardens, and venues throughout the Midwest.

Trillium features Anne Harrigan (fiddle and vocals), Anna Kurtz (vocals), Cheryl Medvedenko (whistle and vocals), Thom Jayne (guitar and didgeridoo) and frequent special guests.
